

HUGH C. KELLY

Principal, National Lead - Bank Regulatory Advisory Services
KPMG LLP

Hugh is KPMG LLP's National Lead Partner for U.S. Bank Regulatory Advisory Services, which is part of KPMG's Financial Services Regulatory Group. He is based in Washington, D.C. and has over 30 years of bank regulatory experience.

At KPMG, Hugh has helped numerous financial institution clients enhance their Board governance and risk management processes and respond to evolving bank regulatory requirements. Areas of expertise include bank regulatory expectations for enterprise risk management, regulatory capital, including Basel II, credit risk, market risk, treasury, operational risk, outsourcing/offshoring, regulatory reporting and internal audit. Hugh has assisted a number of large banks prepare for and respond to OCC and Federal Reserve horizontal examinations related to governance, Basel II, and internal audit processes. He also leads KPMG's U.S. foreign banking organization (FBO) regulatory advisory practice, which assists FBO's navigate U.S. licensing and bank examination requirements.

Hugh is a member of KPMG's Global FS Regulatory Compliance Steering Committee and KPMG's U.S. Financial Services Industry Leadership Team. He is KPMG's U.S. leader for Basel II related advisory services and a member of KPMG's Global Basel II Steering Committee.

Prior to joining KPMG in 2004, Hugh spent 26 years with the U.S. Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC) as a Senior Advisor, Head of the Global Banking Division and Examiner-in-Charge (EIC) for several large banks. He has worked with all U.S. bank and thrift regulatory agencies as well as key foreign supervisors. He brings an excellent grasp of bank regulatory expectations and industry best practices for risk governance, compliance, Basel II and operational risk management. He was a member of several Basel Committee working groups as well as U.S. inter-agency and international working groups focused on cross-border supervision, operational risk management, IT risk management and e-banking.

Hugh received his bachelor's degree in finance from Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles. He is a graduate of the Pacific Coast Graduate Banking School, the ABA's International Banking School, and attended Schiller College in Heidelberg, Germany.

Hugh was born in Dublin, Ireland and now resides in Bethesda, MD with his wife and 2 sons. He is on the Board of Directors of the DC RBI / Batter-Up Foundation, whose mission is to use baseball to provide inner-city youth with a positive, team-oriented activity, as well as on the Board of Bethesda Little League.