

Bradley Brown – Bio/CV

Bradley J. Brown is a Senior Vice President in Bank of America's Corporate Treasury department where he is responsible for utilizing capital market solutions to provide cost effective funding, capital relief, risk transference and other benefits. This includes the management of Bank of America's covered bond program as well as securitization programs such as those backed by residential mortgage and auto loans.

Brown has over 12 years experience in structured finance working in the asset backed finance and structured credit products groups of Bank of America's investment banking unit. Before joining Bank of America in 1997, he was a Business Advisory Services Manager at Price Waterhouse. He is chairman of the U.S. Covered Bonds Council, a collaborative forum sponsored by ASF and SIFMA to develop the U.S. covered bonds market.